Tornado in Arkansas—Hindu Funeral Rites in Canada

HAVOC BY CYCLONE
Wrecked section of Clarkdale, Ark., after a cyclone had swept through it recently. The windstorm lasted only two minutes, but in that time it wiped out the only brick building in town, inflicted severe damage on other structures, killed four people and injured thirty-one. Railroad cars were overturned after having been pushed along the tracks 150 yards.

HINDU CREMATION IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

The ceremonies here pictured are common enough in India, but unusual in American countries. This Hindu cremation took place recently in Nelson, British Columbia, Canada. The body was prepared for cremation by being thoroughly greased with butter. The casket was placed on a funeral pyre about ten feet high. Fifteen gallons of coal oil were poured over the pile and then ignited to the accompaniment of a weird, chanting, sing-song prayer that lasted fifteen minutes.

MOONSHINING OUT-FIT SEIZED

Stills and other contraband materials seized by the Hoboken police when they raided the premises at 330 Court Street, that city, and captured the largest collection of moonshine apparatus so far taken in that State. In the seizure there was one forty-gallon still, one ten-gallon still and others of various sizes, besides 200 gallons of alcohol and eight hogsheads of mash. Police and officials are seen studying the confiscated material.

VISCOUNT BRYCE of Dechmont was considered one of the foremost scholars of politics and governmental structure in the world, but to this reputation, acquired first with the publication of a dissertation on the Holy Roman Empire when he was only 24 years old, he added greatness in many other fields of endeavor.

In the field of diplomacy he served Great Britain for six years as Ambassador to this country, and societies formed on both sides of the Atlantic for the creation of better relations between the two countries have repeatedly given their official opinion that the "English Yankee" had done more for the betterment of Anglo-American relations than any other living man. From the time of his first visit to this country, about 1870, he had been preaching continually for closer relationship and friendship between the United States and the constituents of the British Empire.

The United States knew him best as Ambassador and lecturer and as author of an authoritative work on the American governmental system, entitled "The American Commonwealth." This work has been used in schools and colleges throughout the country since its publication.

Team of Elephants in Gorgeous Trap- pings at Ceremony of Welcome to Prince of Wales

CONTRASTS OF TRANSPORTATION

A curious contrast is here presented by the procession of elephants on the one hand and the high-powered automobile of the Prince of Wales at the right. The stately beasts are drawing the silver carriage of the Maharajah of Bharatpur at perhaps four miles an hour. The Prince's car, with his insignia on front, can easily make sixty miles an hour. It illustrates the energy of the West versus the placidity of the East.

Statue of Pope Benedict XV. in Moslem Capital

CONSTANTINOPLE, CENTRE OF THE MOHAMMEDAN FAITH, HONORS HEAD OF ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH
Few religions are as fanatical or as fiercely opposed to other faiths as Mohammedanism, and this fact makes more remarkable the erection in Constantinople of the above statue of the late Pope Benedict XV. The list of subscribers to the fund for the statue was headed by the Sultan of Turkey himself. The pedestal bears the inscription: "To the Great Pontiff of the world tragedy, Benedict XV., benefactor of the peoples without regard to their nationality and creed, in token of profound gratitude—The Orient, 1914-1921."

Interior of St. Peter's, the Largest Church in the World

THE Church of St. Peter's, Rome, has been much in the attention of the world recently because of the burial services of the late Pope Benedict XV. that were held in the august structure. The interior of the church is here shown during the performance of a solemn function. It is the largest and most superb church in the world, and is invested with special sanctity in the minds of votaries of the Roman Catholic Church. More than any other it is identified with the idea of the Papacy, as it adjoins the Lateran Palace and the Vatican, which for centuries have been the dwellings of the Popes. This chief shrine of Roman Catholicism is built on the site of Caligula's Circus, where Nero tortured the Christians, and thus emphasizes the triumph of Christianity over paganism. First erected by Constantine as a basilica, it was reconstructed under Nicholas V. as a Latin cross. Bramante, under Julius II., remodeled it as a Greek cross. Michel Angelo elaborated and embellished Bramante's design, and added the marvelous dome, which has been at once the admiration and despair of architects since his time. Unfortunately the facade added by Paul V. obscures the beauty of the dome. The church covers an area of 18,000 square yards; the extreme height is 435 feet. Under the high altar is the reputed tomb of St. Peter. The grandeur and magnificence of the interior are overpowering.

Incident of the Recent Uprising in Cairo, Egypt, Against the British Authorities

SCENE AT THE RAILWAY STATION IN CAIRO, EGYPT, AFTER THE RIOTERS HAD SET FIRE TO THE STATION AND TORN UP PART OF THE RAILWAY LINE. THE EGYPTIAN POLICE WERE POWERLESS TO CURB THE RIOTERS, WHO PREVENTED THE FIREMEN FROM EXTINGUISHING THE FLAMES. IT WAS NOT UNTIL AFTER THE ARRIVAL OF BRITISH TROOPS THAT THE DISORDERS COULD BE QUELLED. THE IMMEDIATE CAUSE OF THE OUTBREAK WAS THE ORDER OF GENERAL ALLENBY EXPELLING ZAGLUL PASHA, THE NATIONALIST LEADER, FROM CAIRO. SINCE THAT TIME ZAGLUL PASHA AND OTHER LEADERS OF THE MOVEMENT HAVE BEEN DEPORTED. EGYPT HAS LONG BEEN SEETHING IN REVOLT AND THE PROBLEM OF ADMINISTERING THE COUNTRY IS ONE OF THE GRAVEST THAT CONFRONTS THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

Community Work in Roadmaking—Balking Landlords

PHANTOM CANON HIGHWAY

Mountain road covering a distance of thirty-two miles, extending from Canon City and Florence to Victor and Cripple Creek, Col. For a time it was rendered impassable by heavy floods, and State engineers estimated that it would take $90,000 to put it in shape for travel. The money was not available, and so the citizens turned out to the number of from 75 to 150 each day and with indomitable Western spirit set to work, with the result that in a surprisingly short time the task was completed.

HOUSEBOAT COLONY

The housing shortage is so acute and the rent charges so high that a number of citizens in Harlem have made their homes in houseboats on the river. They are very comfortable homes at that, being supplied with electricity, modern bathrooms and many other latest improvements. The life is a very cheerful one owing to the fact that there are no visits from profiteering landlords to be dreaded, and the only charge is $5 a month that the city demands for the location. Part of the houseboat colony on the Harlem River is here shown.

Feet that cry for comfort

SOMEWHERE, at some hour, the nerves of your feet seem to utter a little cry. As time goes on, the cry comes oftener and grows louder. It's a warning that fallen arches, backache, nerve-strain, headache may develop. It's a cry for comfort. The Comfort of Cantilever Shoes.

To stand at ease, to step out gracefully, to be fresh and ready for joyous activity; to feel at best at all times your feet need properly shaped shoes as much as your eyes crave good-looking shoes.

Your feet desire shoe arches that are flexible like their own arches. The flexible arch of the Cantilever Shoe improves circulation and permits strengthening exercise of foot-muscles. Cantilevers have no metal shank-piece concealed in the leather, as do ordinary shoes. Cantilevers lace up trimly and afford each arch the precise degree of support it needs. For weak arches that need correction, wear Cantilevers and see how quickly you improve.

Cantilever Shoes make it easier to shop, stand and walk without tiring so soon. Life becomes brighter and happier when your feet are comfortably cared for. It isn't as if you had to make a sacrifice for your comfort. Cantilever Shoes are not only beautifully comfortable, but they are good looking. Prices are reasonable.

Ask for a demonstration at the nearest dealer's. If none listed here is near you, write to the manufacturers, Morse & Burt Co., 11 Carlton Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., for the address of a nearby dealer and an interesting booklet that explains why so many people have fallen arches.
